

Nite Ize Designs Marine-Grade Stainless Steel SlideLock S-Biners

BOULDER, Colo., Aug. 3, 2016- Constant exposure to salt water, silt, sand and other elements can degrade the quality of important aquatic equipment which is why outdoor gear manufacturer, Nite Ize® designed the new S-Biner® Marine. This double gated locking carabiner is made of 316 stainless steel and is highly corrosion resistant, making it a reliable accessory for water sports and activities in marine environments. These make perfect additions to connect, attach and hold gear when sailing, boating, kayaking rafting, fishing and more.

“We feel it’s really important to listen to feedback from customers about the different environments our products are exposed to and the applications in which they are used,” Rick Case said, Nite Ize Founder and CEO. “When we invented the S-Biner, we knew we had come up with something special, but couldn’t have imagined all the ways and places that they would be used by our customers. Hearing about the different environments where our S-Biners are used, we recognized the need to accommodate those in more extreme conditions. These new Marine-Grade S-Biners will stand up to the test of our toughest customers and locations.”

Shaped like an “s,” this double wire gated carabiner design features two simple, innovative plastic sliders that move into place to keep the gates securely closed. Each gate can be locked independently for convenient access to items and will stay firmly locked until manually unlocked, allowing for simple and secure linking, attaching, and carrying. The Nite Ize S-Biner Marine is now available in size #2, #3 and #4 individually for MSRPs of $4.99, $5.99 or $6.99 respectively.
